

Love Compatibility Calculator!

Test how compatible you are with your partner! The program requires you to enter two names, and then answer a couple questions. Your compatibility score will depend on the answers to those questions. The more things you and your partner have in common, the higher your score will be. While if you and your partner don't have anything in common at all, your score will be extremely low. Scores depend on the age difference between the partners, and what food preferences you two have in common. If your age difference is less than 5 years, then 35% will be added to your compatibility score. And if your age difference is less than 10 years, 10% will be added to your score. And for each favorite foods you two have in common, 15% will be added to your total score. And depending on your score, you will get a different message each time. There are about 20 messages within the program, try to find all of them!
